AGE OF PERICLES

LEGENDS OF HELLAS · PART II · STANDALONE

The weight of democratic decisions on your shoulders.

1–5 PLAYERS	90–120 MINUTES	14+ AGES	MEDIUM-HEAVY STRATEGY

ON GAMEFOUND · MARCH 2027

THE GAME IN THIRTY SECONDS

Athens, 447 BC. Each player leads one of the city's great houses. On your turn you place a Citizen in the Agora and take an action. When the round ends, those same Citizens vote, and the majorities win the city's offices. Meanwhile a 3D Parthenon rises on the table, one column at a time. Every column brings the end closer.

WHY IT SELLS

I The centrepiece does the selling. The 3D Parthenon, twenty columns and two roofs, is the game's clock and stands in every box. Put it on a demo table and people walk over to ask.

II A hook customers repeat. Every Role tile has a Day side and a Night side. Flip it, take the bribes piled up in plain sight, and pay with exile. "Play the corrupt politician" is a line that sells itself.

III One to five players, no app. The Demagogue, an automated rival run by nine cards, takes the third seat at two players and runs the solo mode.

IV Deep Euro strategy. Build your economy, compete for political power, and time your moves as the Parthenon rises.

V History told properly. Researched with a classical philologist. Part II of the Legends of Hellas series, and complete on its own.
